"Ladies at Sea" by Martin Bandy

The Scrimshaw Story

Ivory, shell, horn and bone. These were the canvasses on which primitive man created the first scrimshaw. Practiced by American Indians, Eskimos, and the early Polynesians, scrimshaw was adopted by sailors aboard the whaling ships of another century, who filled long hours at sea by carving scenes from their lives. Concern for endangered species has eliminated most sources of fresh ivory, but fossil ivory is still used to create genuine scrimshaw, engraved by modern scrimshanders who follow a tradition as old as man's love affair with the sea.

Maui This Week

By Terri Pike

MAUI'S MOUNTAINS ARE its most striking feature. As you drive along the main highway, Honoapiilani Highway, south from Kahului, the peaks loom up on both sides. The nearest is Puu Kukui whose green slopes rise steeply just a few miles from the road. To the east are the massive mountains of Haleakala National Park. They rise in steep, jagged, majestic beauty, the highest, Haleakala, being 10,000 feet...

MAUI'S BEACHES ARE STRIKING, TOO. The one at Kaanapali is the best known. Kaanapali is a four-mile stretch of white, sandy beach and calm, blue water. Whether it's the land you love or the water, Maui has it all. If it's shopping you enjoy, Maui has that, too. Lahaina, the little town that once was the whaling center of the Pacific, stretches along the south coast of Maui. This long, narrow, quaint town features hundreds of interesting shops along Front Street. The friendly town also is filled with cozy restaurants and cafes...

WHEN YOU TIRE OF SHOPPING you can take a ride on the Lahaina-Kaanapali and Pacific Railroad through the sugar cane fields. It's a replica of a sugar cane train of the 1890s. And when your energy has finally waned, you can relax under the Lahaina banyan tree, the largest tree on the island. Its branches cover a square block of the town. The combination of Maui's relaxed pace and cool shade of the banyan tree may even put you to sleep...

LAHAINA IS NOT THE ONLY PLACE TO EAT AND SHOP. Did you know you can find delicious Mexican food in Hawaii? You'll find some of the best at Polli's on the Beach Restaurant, a new addition to the growing list of restaurants in the Kihei area. The restaurant is the sister to the already popular Polli's Mexican Restaurant and Cantina in Makawao. It's at 101 N. Kihei Road in the Kealia Beach Center. It features excellent Mexican food from the Sonora region of Mexico. Make sure to ask for a margarita when you're there. The margaritas are among the best in Hawaii...

IF YOU HAPPEN TO BE IN WAILUKU, Maui Wholesale Gold is worth a visit. Owner Ken Keit recently took a trip to the Orient and has replenished his unique store with many exotic items. You'll find a wide array of gold jewelry and Hawaiian heirloom jewelry. Gold prices are adjusted daily to reflect current markets. Another popular item carried is eel skin accessories, the leather of the sea. The shop is located at 11 Market St. in historic Wailuku...

Maui The Valley Isle

Welcome to Maui, "The Valley Island," the second largest of the Hawaiian Islands, whose beauty and variety are reflected in the proud slogan of Maui residents: "Maui no ka oi!" — "Maui is the best!"

Like Oahu and the Big Island, Maui was created by two massive volcanoes that flowed together, leaving a low plateau between the present Kahului and Kihei regions. Some believe this is the origin of Maui's "Valley Isle" nickname, but it is more likely that the name comes from the dramatic lush Iao Valley in the West Maui Mountains where King Kamehameha defeated the Maui army, killing thousands trapped in the exitless gorge.

Maui's main airport is at Kahului where Aloha, Mid Pacific and Hawaiian Airlines operate. If you are arriving here, look for the Kahului airport map (on the centerfold Maui Map), which gives directions to your destination. Take Route 36 for Kahului and Wailuku; take Route 38 for Lahaina, Kaanapali, Napili, Kapalua; and take Keolani Highway (the airport road) to Dairy Road to Route 35 to Kihei and Wailea.

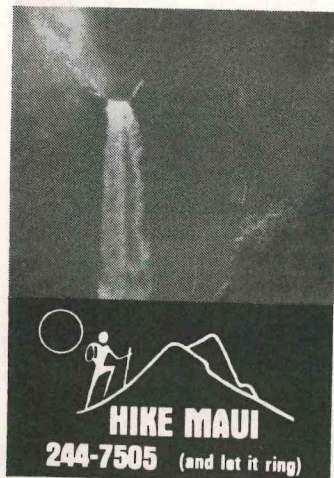

The Kapalua Bay Hotel and Villas in Kapalua.

The majority of Maui visitors choose one of six areas as their base: Kahului, Kihei, Wailea, Kaanapali, Napili and Kapalua. Kaanapali, Kapalua and Wailea are the major resort destinations. KAHULUI, near the Island's major airport, offers many hotels located side by side on Kahului Bay—some of which are the Maui Beach Hotel, Maui Palms and Maui Hukilau. These are a convenient base from which to tour the more remote regions of HALEAKALA and lush tropical HANA on the east coast (see Table of Contents for details in each area).

Just west of Kahului is WAILUKU, the county seat with historic churches, Hale Hoiike Museum and nearby lush Iao Valley leading to Iao Needle. (See the Table of Contents for details on each area).

KIHEI is about 10 to 15 miles south of the airport. Here you will find many condominiums and the Maui Lu Resort. There are also lovely beaches, several small shopping centers, and many restaurants.

HIKE MAUI

244-7505 (and let it ring)

Beyond Kihei is WALEA. Here you will find two beautiful resort hotels: the Westin Wailea Hotel and the Hotel Inter-Continental Maui. There is also a shopping center, fine golf courses and a beautiful tennis center (see Table of Contents for further details).

KAANAPALI, about 24 miles from the Kahului Airport, is Maui's best known resort destination with many major hotels including the Royal Lahaina, Kaanapali Beach Hotel, Sheraton-Maui, Maui Surf Hotel, Maui Marriott and the 815-room Hyatt-Regency (see Table of Contents for details).

A short drive south from Kaanapali is LAHAINA, a former capitol of the Hawaiian Islands and later a famous whaling port, preserved architecturally much as it was in the last century. Lahaina is now a shopper's paradise and the site of several museums including the Baldwin Home and the old prison.

Up the coast seven miles north of Kaanapali is NAPILI with seven low-rise hotels along its pleasant bay. And just beyond is the new luxury resort destination, KAPALUA (see Table of Contents for details).

Maui has everything—friendly people, sparkling, white sand beaches, spectacular scenery, away-from-it-all seclusion, or golfing, water sports, nightlife and a perfect climate. Yes, "Maui no ka oi!"

Whaling Days Still Alive in Lahaina

One of Maui's major visitor attractions is the quaint yet lively town of Lahaina, where the historic spirit of the 19th century whaling days still lives. Lahaina is approximately a 45-minute drive from Kahului Airport. As the royal capital of the Islands from 1820 to 1854, Lahaina, Maui, was the playground of Hawaii's kings and queens. In the middle years of the century whalers came in the thousands to winter at the South Seas port, bringing with them a hearty appetite for worldly pleasures. Lahaina became a raucous, roistering town.

Along Front Street, gaily painted shops with a turn-of-the-century air sell arts and crafts, coral, and carved woods, ice cream, native fruits, and many other local and imported wares. In Lahaina's harbor, small craft glide in and out. Mixed among restaurants, hotels and shops are authentic, historic landmarks.

Across Front Street, facing the harbor, is the famous old PIONEER INN, built in 1901. The landmark has remained practically untouched and its barroom is decorated with original relics of the whaling days, including the amusing house rules of 1901.

Also on Front Street among shops and restaurants is the two-story BALDWIN HOUSE MUSEUM built in 1834 by Dr. Dwight Baldwin, a medical missionary who lived there with his family until 1871.

THE OLD COURTHOUSE, on the harbor side of the banyan tree, was built in 1859 from stones taken from the ruins of Kamehameha's palace. The courthouse was the site of the writing of the first Hawaiian Constitution. The first floor and basement are the home of Lahaina Art Society's galleries. The nearby crumbled walls within the town square park represent a corner of the OLD FORT which was built in the early 1830's.

HALE PAAHAO, which means "stuck-in-irons house," was a prison built in 1850 out of coral stone. Most of the inmates were there for desertion from ships, drunkenness, working on the Sabbath or "dangerous horse-riding."

Lahaina has retained much of its leisurely, friendly charm and, due to the town's restoration plan, much of the architectural look of old Hawaii. Today the town offers entertainment and diversion of almost every sort. Although the pace has slowed since the whaling days, Lahaina maintains a special spark of excitement.

Haleakala Crater Is A Sight To See

One of the most spectacular sights in the world is the view from Haleakala at sunrise (around 6 a.m. in the summer and 7 a.m. in the winter) when the usually clear skies allow a magnificent view from the 10,023-foot summit to the ocean below.

Maui is dominated by the vast sleeping volcano, which is considered dormant (not extinct) because it last erupted in 1790, a relatively recent occurrence in geological time.

Visitors should dress warmly because temperatures drop drastically at this altitude—Haleakala's record all-time low was 11 degrees at the crater's rim on Jan. 2, 1961. Visitors are also warned against driving alone if they have high blood pressure or heart disease because the rarefied air can cause dizziness.

From Kahului it is a short drive on Hana Highway, Route 36, to the stoplight at Haleakala Highway, Route 37. Follow Route 37 up the mountain to the intersection just beyond Pukalani. Turn left here onto Route 377 and continue to Route 378 which zig-zags to the top. The total drive is approximately two hours.

From the crater's rim at 10,023 feet, you gaze down upon a panorama of other worldly beauty. Inside the crater's 21-mile circumference are caverns, a desert plain, forest niches, luxuriant meadows and richly colored cinder cones, the highest of which is approximately two-thirds the height of the Empire State Building.

Phone 572-7749 for a recorded message on weather and road conditions. There are no gas stations or restaurants in Haleakala National Park.

Fresh or dried protea blossoms to carry with you or have mailed anywhere on the mainland and Canada. Stop by our protea packing shed on your way back from Haleakala Crater. Located on Hwy. 37, across from the Kula Post Office immediately before the 12 mi. marker. Open 9 a.m. to 5 p.m.

Swim, Sun and Play In Kaanapali

Kaanapali is one of Maui's major resort areas. It is about a 50-minute drive from Kahului Airport.

Strung along the three-mile sweep of Kaanapali's golden beach are six luxury hotels—Sheraton Maui, Royal Lahaina, Kaanapali Beach, Maui Surf and the new Hyatt Regency and Maui Marriott resorts. Each offers delightful Mainland "name" entertainers, top local talent, Polynesian revues and fine dining.

Running alongside the hotels are the rolling fairways and velvety greens of Kaanapali's two golf courses. One, the Royal Kaanapali, is a 72-par, championship course designed by Robert Trent Jones. The other course, also a 72-par, is called the South Course and was designed by Jack Snyder.

Three miles of glistening white sand are the crown jewel of Kaanapali Beach.

There are also several condominium developments, including Maui Eldorado, Kaanapali Plantation, The Whaler, the Kaanapali Royal, the International Colony Club and the Mahana and Maui Kai.

Tennis enthusiasts will be happy to know that tennis facilities exist at several Kaanapali hotels including the Royal Lahaina, Hyatt Regency, Maui Marriott and Maui Surf. The Royal Lahaina features a fabulous Tennis Ranch complete with 12 courts, swimming pool and more.

Adding an extra fillip of fun for Kaanapali guests is the sight-seeing-transportation facility between Lahaina and Kaanapali—an authentic antique railroad, complete with steam engines and brightly-colored coaches. The Lahaina-Kaanapali & Pacific Railroad picks up and drops off passengers at two 1900-style depots, one at Kaanapali and one in Lahaina.

The Kaanapali resort area also boasts Whalers Village, a unique oceanside complex of retail stores, shops and restaurants. On display throughout Whalers Village are many historical whaling exhibits, plus a 40-foot whale's skeleton!

Golfing Maui Style

by Lane Christiansen
PGA professional
SunSeeker Golf School

The story of how golfing developed on Maui continues with Wailea-The Blue Course. Wailea was the second fully planned destination resort to be developed on Maui. From the very beginning, golfers have been attracted to golf "Wailea style." You can bask in some of Hawaii's finest weather while enjoying an unhurried round of golf in a truly beautiful setting. The first of Wailea's two 18-hole courses was the Blue. Nine holes opened in 1971 with the full 18-hole layout in play early the following year. The golf facility now boasts 36 enchanting holes—holes that golfers on all levels of play can enjoy.

Fran Cipro, Wailea's director of golf, has been at Wailea since the facility opened. Fran and I recently discussed the Blue Course and its popularity. We agreed that while the course does not have one single "awesome" hole—like the 16th at Cypress Point or the 18th at Pebble Beach, for example—Wailea Blue does offer 18 good golf holes. It's really a fun course to play. The fairways are well-groomed and appear to be wide and inviting. Your success will be determined by your ability to negotiate 72 bunkers, four man-made lakes and a liberal sprinkling of kiawe trees along the way. Certainly the course will hold your interest.

The most difficult hole may be the 535-yard fourth. The uphill tee shot makes the hole play even longer than the yardage indicates. Each shot must be well-placed in a dogleg left fairway with a right-to-left slope. For the best results, play to the right side of the fairway all the way. If you haven't played Wailea yet—discover it. And remember, for your golfing pleasure—Maui no ka oi!

Golf Quiz

1. The Vardon Trophy is awarded annually to the P.G.A. Tour player with the year's lowest scoring average. During the decade of the '60s (1960-'69) only three players won the award. Dave Hill captured his only trophy in 1960. Can you name the two players who dominated the remaining nine years?

ANSWER: Bill Casper 1960, '63, '65, '66 and '68
Arnold Palmer 1961, '62, '64 and '67

2. The 1977 British Open was played at Turnberry. This event resulted in one of the great golf "shoot-outs" of all time. Jack Nicklaus, playing flawlessly, bettered the existing British Open scoring record by seven strokes—only to lose the tournament by a single shot. With a score of 268, eight strokes below the previous record, who won the 1977 British Open?

ANSWER: Tom Watson

Hawaii's Pineapples

No one is certain just how or when the pineapple first came to Hawaii. Although it is known that it was not brought by the early Polynesians. The first mention of it was when Don Francisco de Paula y Marin, a counselor to King Kamehameha I, wrote in his diary on January 21, 1813, "This day I planted pineapples and an orange tree." The first successful commercial pineapple growing venture began on Oahu in 1882 when Captain John Kidwell, an English horticulturist, brought from Florida a shipment of the Smooth Cayenne pineapples, the variety grown almost exclusively in Hawaii today.

The pineapple is a true fruit, but it grows on a low plant, not on a tree where many visitors expect to find it. It takes from 18 to 22 months from planting to harvesting of a pineapple. Harvesting is done by hand because pineapples must be picked when they are fully ripened. During the peak of the harvest, the largest pineapple cannery processes more than three million pineapples a day. A growing portion of fresh fruit is now air-lifted directly to the mainland market areas—you can even carry home your own fresh supply.

Macadamia Delights

Mauna Loa Macadamia Nut Corp., world's largest grower, processor and marketer of macadamia nuts, headquartered on the Big Island, offers visitors the following award-winning recipes:

©Chocolate Macadamia Nut Torte by Candace Ames, Hawaii National Park

- 1 jar (3½ oz.) Bits O' Macadamia Nuts
- 1 egg
- ¾ cup sugar
- ¾ cup butter or margarine, softened
- ½ teaspoon salt
- 2 tablespoons rum
- 1½ cups flour
- 1½ cups whipping cream
- ¼ cup powdered sugar
- ⅓ cup all-purpose ground chocolate powder

Tear eight sheets of waxed paper and trace the bottom of an 8" x 8" square pan, or 8" round pan. Stack sheets evenly and cut all sheets with the traced pattern. In a large bowl combine ¾ of the jar of nuts, egg, sugar, butter, salt, 1 tablespoon of the rum and 1 cup of the flour. Beat with electric mixer at low speed. Increase speed and beat for 3 minutes. Mixture should be light and fluffy. Stir in the remaining ½ cup flour. Preheat oven to 375°F. Dampen baking sheets and place waxed paper on top. Place about ¼ cup dough on waxed paper; spread evenly to the edges of the paper. Bake 8 to 10 minutes. Always bake on cooled baking sheets. Repeat process for all eight forms. Cool cookies on wire rack about 5 minutes, then peel off paper. Stack on a plate. Beat whipping cream; gradually add powdered sugar and ground chocolate powder. After stiff peaks form, stir in remaining 1 tablespoon rum. Spread ½ cup of flavored whipped cream on cookies and layer. Refrigerate 2 to 3 hours before serving. Just before serving, sprinkle with reserved nuts and cut into square or wedges. Makes 8 to 10 servings.

©Mauna Loa Macadamia Nut Crab Puff by Julia Kohashi, Hilo

- ¼ cup finely chopped green onions
- 1 jar (3½ oz.) Bits O' Macadamia Nuts
- 2 cups milk
- 1 cup all-purpose baking mix
- 4 eggs
- ¾ teaspoon salt

Preheat oven to 400°F. Lightly grease a 9-inch square casserole dish. Mix together crab, Cheddar cheese, cream cheese and onions in casserole dish. Sprinkle macadamia nuts over mixture. Combine remaining ingredients; beat with a hand mixer for 1 minute. Pour into casserole dish. Bake 35 to 40 minutes or until golden brown and knife inserted into center comes out clean. The Language of Leis

"Almost any occasion in Hawaii merits a lei..."

The lei is recognized around the world as the splendid and prominent symbol of the Aloha spirit. Colorful and fragrant floral creations, leis are given in welcome and in bidding farewell. They are seen at weddings, birthdays, and all kinds of parties. Almost any occasion in Hawaii merits the giving and grateful receiving of leis.

The earliest leis were made of feathers. Interesting combinations of red, yellow and brown feathers were used to create leis for different ranks of alii (royalty) and various affairs. Examples of these early feather leis can be viewed at the Bishop Museum in Honolulu, where drawings of the types of birds whose feathers were used are also on display.

As there were fewer birds (many are now extinct), flowers were used instead of feathers. Feather leis are rarely seen now, except as hatbands. Flower leis are in abundance.

Each island has chosen its own special lei material. Kauai's lei is made of green mokihana berries which exude the fragrance of anise. Oahu's fragrant yellow ilima lei is composed of hundreds of flowers and involves hours of work. The fluffy red pompoms of the lehua flower are used to make the feathery lei favored by the Big Island. Maui's lei is made of pink lokelani, meaning "rose of heaven." The silver-green leaves and tiny white flowers of the kukui, or "candle nut," tree make up the lei of Molokai.

Besides the individual island selections, many different kinds of flowers and leaves are used, either alone or in exquisite combinations. The Vanda orchid is very popular, followed by the fragrant plumeria, known practically everywhere but Hawaii as frangipani. Gardenias make lovely leis, but cannot be taken to the mainland because they do not pass the U.S. Department of Agriculture inspection at the airport. Pikake leis look like strings of seed pearls. The pikake flower was the favorite of Princess Kaiulani, who also fancied peacocks; hence, the name pikake.

Leis will keep longer if properly cared for. When you purchase a lei, be sure to ask the seller how to keep the lei fresh. Some may be sprinkled with water and kept in a plastic bag in the refrigerator. Others need no water.

Hawaiian Language

The Hawaiian language has the shortest alphabet in the world—only twelve letters. Five vowels: a, e, i, o, u. Seven consonants: h, k, l, m, n, p, w. The vowels are all pronounced and each syllable ends in a vowel. Vowel pronunciations are approximately: a as in lava, e as in stay, i as y in city, o has the long sound as in tow, u as oo as in soon. Some vowels are diphthongized to form a single sound as in Waikiki. The consonants are pronounced as in English with the exception of w. W after an i or e is usually pronounced as v. When it is the first letter of a word or follows an a there is no rule and pronunciation follows custom. The accent on a word is usually on next-to-the-last syllable. The mark ' indicates a glottal stop, similar to the sound between the oh's in English oh-oh.

There are nuances and exceptions to the rules of the Hawaiian language but this simple guide can help you for day-to-day use.

Kahului, Wailuku: Starting Point in Maui Tour

The adjoining towns of Wailuku and Kahului make up Maui's business and commercial center, just minutes away from the Kahului Airport, Maui's major entry point. Kahului, the island's deep-water port, has three hotels and three shopping centers on Kaahumanu Avenue within easy walking distance of one another. Wailuku, the county seat, is the older of the two towns, charmingly situated on the slopes of the West Maui Mountains at the mouth of the Iao Valley.

Iao Needle.

There are some attractions to explore in Wailuku. One not-to-be-missed landmark is Iao Needle, three miles from Wailuku in the Iao Valley State Park. It is a 2,250-foot product of erosion that rises sharply amidst the background of lush mountain cliffs. On the way back to Wailuku, stop at Kepaniwai Heritage Gardens, a Maui County park with formal gardens and pavilions representing Hawaii's various cultures.

In Wailuku, the Hale Hoikeike museum is well worth a visit. The museum contains historical exhibits, Hawaiian artifacts and paintings by Edward Bailey, who built the home in between 1833-1850. Nearby Kaahumanu Church, built in 1837 of plastered stone, is Maui's oldest church, a favorite subject for photographers.

The first raw sugar in Hawaii was produced on the island of Lanai in 1802 by a Chinese immigrant using stone grinding wheels. It takes a ton of water to grow just nine pounds of sugar cane to make only one pound of sugar!

Lahaina Dining Tip

CHRIS' SMOKEHOUSE, Maui's authentic kiawe wood barbecue restaurant, is the place to find all your favorites—ribs, chicken, steaks, and fresh fish. Chris' always uses the finest quality and freshest products available. Hawaiian kiawe wood and charcoal are used to achieve the great smoke flavor. The portions are large and prices are reasonable.

Chris' is open for lunch and dinner from 11:30 a.m. to 10 p.m. Lunch is served until 2:30 p.m. and dinner is served from 5:30 p.m. The lunch menu includes a wide variety of salads and sandwiches. Dinner entrees include fresh island kiawe chicken, charcoal-broiled fresh fish, chicken and ribs combo, whole rack of ribs, charcoal-broiled strip steak and more. The ribs and chicken are marinated overnight in Chris' special barbecue sauce, then smoked over kiawe wood and broiled over kiawe charcoal.

Dinners include freshly baked cornbread muffins with a choice of baked beans or sweet potato fritters with steak fries or rice. All items are available for take out. Dessert includes a delicious Haagen Dazs hula pie.

Chris' is located in Lahaina Square. Look for the restaurant at the southeast corner past Foodland. There's ample free parking. Call 667-2111 for more information.

Dining Tip

Possibly one of the greatest views of any oceanfront restaurant on Maui can be found at BETTINO'S at the Lahaina Shores Village in Lahaina. Every dining table is oceanfront overlooking the active Lahaina harbor. The cocktail lounge, open 8 a.m. to 10 p.m., offers the same great view. Bettino's menu has a touch of San Francisco, with such items as fresh Island fish, scampi, lobster, Chicken Marsala (breast of spring chicken sauteed in fresh mushrooms, shallots and marsala wine) and many more.

Beef specialties include choice cuts of Top Sirloin, prime rib, teriyaki steak and Maui ribs marinated in sweetened soy sauce.

Dinner prices are moderate: they begin at $6.95. Children's dinners start at $4.95. Appetizers such as deep fried calamari, zucchini, and sauteed mushrooms also have that distinctly San Franciscan accent. Maui appetizers include sashimi, and Maui onion rings. Appetizers are served in the open-air cocktail lounge as well as the dining area.

Breakfast served from 7 a.m. to 2 p.m., lunch 11 a.m. to 2 p.m. daily and dinner from 5:30 to 10 p.m. Reservations suggested. Phone 661-8810.

Hot and cold Island pupus served in their open-air, oceanside lounge during the Happy Hour, 2 to 5 p.m. daily.

Lahaina Dining Tip

CHEZ PAUL is a delightfully intimate French restaurant located on Highway 30 between Wailuku and Lahaina, about four miles before Lahaina. Owners Lucien Charbonnier and Pierre Laon have utilized their mutual culinary artistry and skill to create an excellent menu, exquisite food presentation and unparalleled fine service.

The menu changes daily, depending on what is fresh, in season and available. Some of the appetizers include escargots, pate and fresh mushroom toasts. Cordon-Bleu trained chefs Charbonnier and Laon are proud of their "sans pareil" entrees such as scampi maison, veal forestiere, canard a L'orange and tournedos Madagascar. For dessert, try the "fantastique" chocolate mousse or for a real treat, the fresh strawberries Grand Marnier.

Napili Dining Tip

The best of Thai cuisine served in an elegant Oriental atmosphere is what you'll find at the ORIENT EXPRESS. The food is authentic Thai cuisine cooked personally by owner Tom Boonyasit, originally from Thailand and owner of an award-winning Thai restaurant in Los Angeles.

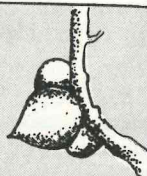

To define Thai cuisine is difficult. Thai food has been described as the cooking method of China, with the aromatic herbs and curry flavors of Indonesia, the spicy hot tang of Mexico and the freshness of Polynesia, combined with a unique flavor of its own. Some like it hot. Some like it mild. Boonyasit will create the taste you desire.

Specialties include stuffed chicken wings, hot spicy roast duck curry, beef with broccoli and oyster sauce, steamed clams with yellow bean sauce and more.

When you visit the Orient Express, how should you order? Rice is the centerpiece of an Oriental dinner. Surrounding the rice you should order four to five side dishes depending on the number of diners and the elaborateness of the meal. These side dishes may include fish, meat vegetables or soup with various sauces. You first take rice on your plate and make your own selections from the dishes arranged around the rice. The idea is to combine each flavor of sauce with your choice of fish or meat mixed with rice, alternating with soup or a fresh vegetable. For more information call 667-8077.

Hawaii's "Perfect Nut"

Halfway between Hilo and Kona, on the Big Island of Hawaii, is a little one-time sugar town that has become famous from Paris to Tokyo as "the macadamia nut capital of the world." The town is Honokaa, and it is the home of the Hawaiian Holiday Macadamia Nut Co., growers, processors, retailers and mail order purveyors of more than 200 incomparable macadamia nut gifts, based on the rare delicacy acclaimed as "the perfect nut."

An Australian import, the first macadamias were planted at Honokaa in 1881, but it was not until 1974 when Paul and Anita DeDomenico bought the Hawaiian Holiday company that the macadamia "taste-treat explosion" took place.

Almost on arrival Anita, an accomplished chef, began cooking with macadamias, and out of her experiments grew the best-selling cookbook, My Macadamia Nut Recipes from our Plantation House, now in a Third Edition featuring her "100 Best" recipes.

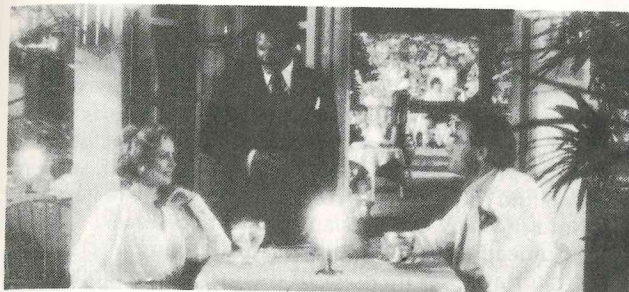

The Honokaa factory is a showplace in itself—from 9 a.m. to 6 p.m. visitors can munch free samples in the retail store while watching actual processing through view windows. Hawaiian Holiday also operates Macadamia Nut Factory retail specialty shops in Lahaina, Maui and Waikiki. All of the outlets carry the company's new gourmet Kona Coffee.

The stores also giftwrap and mail packages anywhere on earth.

Fruits of Hawaii, Delicious Tropical Delights

One of the unique pleasures of visiting the Hawaiian Islands is being able to sample the fresh island fruits. Their exotic flavor, color and texture brighten up salads, entrees, festive drinks, sauces and luscious desserts. Some of the most common fruits available in Hawaii include the pineapple, the banana, and the mango. When in season, you will find them served fresh in your favorite restaurant, and sold in many of the island shops and stores.

The pineapple is the most successful commercial fruit grown in Hawaii. A member of the bromeliad family, the pineapple has a long, romantic history stretching back to Marco Polo, who found it growing in the Southern Chinese provinces, and Christopher Columbus, who carried plants home to Queen Isabella from Guadeloupe. Even the American astronauts Neil Armstrong and Buzz Aldrin drank a pineapple-grapefruit beverage on the moon.

If you like to remember interesting facts, here's one you will love. There are over 300 varieties of edible bananas throughout the tropics. In addition to the imported kinds, Hawaii boasts several of its own, including what is commonly known as the apple banana. Primarily used for cooking, the apple banana is also a good eating fruit because of its firm texture and tart, tangy taste. Unlike the pineapple plant which may bear several fruits over a period of time, once the banana tree has fruited, the main trunk dies and a new plant springs up beside it.

Papaya, also grown commercially in Hawaii, is a favorite throughout the tropical world. Bearing fruit when it is one year old, it is one of the fastest growing fruit trees in Hawaii. This delicious, orange-yellow fruit rich in vitamins A and C, is commonly eaten for breakfast or served in fruit salads.

Mangoes, originating in India, are now planted throughout the tropics. It is thought that the mango has been cultivated by man for over 4,000 years, an indication of its enormous popularity and versatility. The green fruit can be pickled or eaten with Hawaiian salt, and when ripe, the sweet-tasting fruit can be eaten raw, stewed, frozen, baked in cakes or used to make preserves.

Now that we've told you something about Hawaii's tropical fruits, try a fresh fruit salad or fruit boat the next time you're out for lunch. If you haven't yet, you are in for a delightful surprise.

Kahului Dining Tip

When Maui kamaainas dine out, their first choice is usually MAMA'S FISH HOUSE, Maui's original and unique fresh fish restaurant. Formerly a home on the beach in lovely Kuau cove, Mama's is a touch of old Maui just nine minutes from Kahului airport on Highway 36 (the road to Hana), a mile and a half past Paia town.

Once you've found this delightful spot, you probably won't be able to resist an appetizer such as sashimi, oysters or deep-fried Pacific squid.

Mama's specialty is fresh fish and the remarkable preparations have been praised in New West, Gourmet and Travel and Leisure magazines. Fresh island fish is served seven ways: sauteed in butter, poached, baked tarragon, broiled, teriyaki, deep-fried and stuffed. If fresh fish doesn't suit your fancy, you can try Polynesian lobster, pineapple chicken, scampi, bouillabaisse, steamed clams, Pacific abalone or steak, among other entrees. All dinners include a fresh baked loaf of bread, choice of green salad, fish chowder or chilled papaya coconut soup, vegetables, Hawaiian fried rice or potatoes au gratin. Complement your meal with a bottle of wine selected from the lengthy list.

An evening at Mama's is a guaranteed delight whether for dinner or just exotic cocktails. Happy hour is 2:30 to 5 p.m. daily. Call 579-9672 for reservations.

Kihei Dining Tip

A treasure chest of delectable delights is what you'll find at the top of the Rainbow Mall where the new KIHEI SEAS RESTAURANT recently opened.

Owned and operated by Jack Milner, well-known restaurateur both on Maui and the Mainland, the Kihei Seas is another great success in dining that Milner can add to his long list of successes. A 35-year veteran in the restaurant industry, Milner owned one of the busiest restaurants on the west side of Maui. He retired in 1979, but due to popular demand retirement lasted only four years and he was back in business again—this time with the Kihei Seas.

The restaurant's modern Hawaiian atmosphere reflects the time and expense that went into its creation. The rich wood, carpented interior, shell lamps and authentic Hawaiian decor make dining at the Kihei Seas a classy experience—a classy experience without the high price.

The Milners have a reputation for serving quality food at extremely reasonable rates. Entrees include rack of lamb, steaks, bouillabaisse, prime rib, fresh fish, seafood platter, crab, shrimp, scallops and more. The salad bar is a salad lover's dream come true. It's 22 feet long with 45 to 50 items to choose from.

The early bird special from 5 to 7 p.m. features New York steak, prime rib or catch of the day for only $8.95, and top sirloin steak and lobster combo for $9.95 and includes the salad bar and potatoes.

Kihei Seas also offers entertainment and dancing nightly in the lounge. Happy hour is from 2 to 5:30 p.m.

The Kihei Seas is open daily for breakfast, lunch and dinner. Major credit cards are accepted. Call for reservations 879-5600.

Kaanapali Entertainment Tip

One of the best dinner shows in the islands is offered by the Maui Surf Hotel. HERE IS HAWAII, a delightful show featuring a cast of five talented performers, offers audiences a capsulized picture of island living, portrayed through music, dance, film and remarkable special effects. And the prime rib buffet dinner is great!

The romantic Kapa Room is the setting for this exciting show. The curtain rises on the emergence of the islands as volcanic eruptions create a paradise in the Pacific. Extraordinarily talented Audrey Meyers bursts from the volcano in a stylized dance to an ancient chant depicting the legend of the goddess Pele.

After the fiery dance, multi-talented singer/songwriter Keola Beamer, who also wrote and directed the show, strolls on stage to introduce the production. His magnificent voice harmonizes beautifully with that of Miss Meyers. Rain, waterfalls, a volcano and ferns form the exquisite backdrop for a song by Beamer referring to the legend of the rain.

Here is Hawaii combines all of the best aspects of Hawaiian and contemporary music and dance. The comedy numbers elicit laughter from the audience, especially when Beamer and Meyers "drive" an antique car down a rough country road.

The rich rendition of The Hawaiian Wedding Song offered by Beamer and Meyers is one of the best one is likely to hear. And the closing number featuring the song, Honolulu City Lights, written by Beamer, makes one wish the show didn't have to end.

Here is Hawaii, a Tom Moffatt Production, truly captures the magic of Hawaii and is a must-see for visitors and residents alike. Presented nightly except Tuesday at 8 p.m. with dinner seating from 6 p.m., the price is only $22.50 plus tax for adults and $14.50 plus tax for children. Call 661-4411.
